Dear Ms. Ciapusci:

In reference to the letter of 23 November 2009 from Jeanine Derby regarding requirements and reports for the Rosemont Copper Project mining proposal-- Arizona State Parks does not issue permits and does not plan any studies or reports.

Please be advised that cultural resource compliance is required under the federal and state historic preservation acts. The State Historic Preservation Officer, James Garrison, is the main point of contact for those activities. His direct phone number is 602-542-7135, and the mailing address is the same as listed in the left column of this letter.

Two resource management section staff are currently providing technical assistance to the project; please do not hesitate to continue to use their expertise as their time permits.

Have a pleasant holiday season.
